FREDERIC BURK TO BE DEDICATED

S. T. C. Loses Varsity Game to Commerce Bulldogs

TRAINING SCHOOL SERVICES SCHEDULED FOR TUESDAY

Many Educators Will Be Present at Ceremony

The Frederic Burk School building, the recently completed training school of S. T. C., which opened at the beginning of this present semester is to be formally dedicated, Tuesday, December 6, at ten o'clock on the campus grounds near the new building.

The dedication services will feature addresses by several persons of prominence in the field of education in the state. Among the speakers on the program will be Mr. Vierling Kersey, Superintendent of Public Instruction in the State of California; Dr. Alexander C. Roberts, president of S. T. C.; and Mr. Will C. Wood, Superintendent of Banks in California and former California Superintendent of Schools.

The parents of all the children in the Frederic Burk School have been invited to attend the dedication, and at the conclusion of the services an informal reception will be held in the auditorium of the school.

This school building which cost approximately $200,000 to build is one of the most complete of its kind in the west. The work on the structure was begun in June, 1929, and completed one year later in the same month of the year. The building is of fireproof construction with all modern arrangements and equipment.

The training school was named for the late Dr. Frederic Burk, the first president of S. T. C. He was at the head of the college for twenty-five years, from 1899 to 1924.

S. T. C. TO BE GIVEN LARGE ALLOTMENT FOR COLLEGE MAINTENANCE

Dr. Roberts describes the new appropriation for the maintenance of S. T. C. as "the best the college has ever had!" The maintenance budget, which was passed at a meeting held at Sacramento on Tuesday, December 2, gives S. T. C. a 20 per cent increase over its present allotment. The new budget goes into effect next July and is effective for two years after that time.

The increased maintenance fund will not only provide money for library books, etc., but will probably make it possible for the college to secure the services of two or three additional instructors, according to Dr. Roberts.

Another budget of vital importance to this college is to be passed upon in the near future. It is the college building construction budget. Plans for this budget have already been laid before the state finance committee, but it was found necessary to change these plans somewhat because of their expense.

A meeting was held at Sacramento on Tuesday, December 9, by a committee appointed for the purpose of re-planning the building budget. The committee was composed of three members: Dr. Alexander C. Roberts, representing the California Teachers' College presidents; Andrew P. Hill, head of the department of schoolhouse planning; and Sam Cohen, assistant state superintendent of schools. The results of their meeting will probably be revealed within the next week.

FORMAL LUNCHEON WILL FEATURE SENIOR WEEK

One of the features of Senior Week will be the Senior Formal Luncheon to be held in the dining room of the William Taylor Hotel Thursday, December 18, at 12:30 o'clock.

The Seniors will have as their guests Dr. and Mrs. Roberts, Dean and Mrs. Dufour, Miss Levy, Dr. Barney, Dr. Mitchell, and Miss Vance. Miss Ann McHugh and her committee have charge of the affair. All their plans have been secret, although they made known that there would be plenty of holly and mistletoe.

After the luncheon, Senior Week is to be carried out further by the Senior Pilgrimage. It will be comprised of all the members of the class and faculty. The Pilgrimage is to be a farewell tour to all the buildings on the campus. At each building a faculty member or a Senior will speak. Miss McFadden and Alice Parr are to be the speakers at Anderson Hall; Miss Barbour and Dell Mylius at the Kindergarten Building; Mr. Brown and Mary O'Farrell at Frederic Burk; Miss Fleming and Ann McHugh at the Library; and Dr. Roberts and Rose Marraccini at the Administration Building.

Music 16 Offered

Music 16, piano class instruction, will be offered as a regular two unit course next semester. The classes, meeting twice each week, will be limited to six students per class. The fee will be eighteen dollars per semester for each studnt. Students enrolling will be classified in their ability class. The class hour will be determined by the joint consent of the piano instructor and the class. To keep program conflicts at a minimum, these classes will be offered in the afternoon between one and five.

S. T. C. To Graduate First All-Degree Class Of American Teachers Colleges

With the unique distinction of being members of the first all-degree class to graduate from a teachers' college in the United States, sixty-seven S. T. C. students will complete their college careers on the evening of Friday, December 19. The commencement exercises will be held in the auditorium of the Everett Junior High School.

This term's senior class is the first in teachers' college history in America whose members will all receive degrees. The reason for this is that the new state laws requires that all graduates receive a degree, and S. F. S. T. C. is the only teachers' college in California which holds graduating exercises in December.

The ceremonies for the evening are scheduled to start at 8 p. m., and the order of exercises is as follows: first, the Processional, accompanied by the "Graduates March," played by the College Orchestra; next, the Invocation given by Rabbi Irving S. Reichert of Temple Emanu-El in San Francisco; overture by the College Orchestra; and a chorus, sung by the graduating class. The song will be "College Hymn," the music of which was written by Hilda Keel-Smith and the words by P. F. Valentine, both members of the college faculty. The graduates will then be presented by Clarence J. Du Four, Dean of the college, and the commencement address will be given by President Alexander C. Roberts. Two students, Chloe Palmer and Marie Torpey, will respond in behalf of the graduates. Members of the class will sing Rubinstein's "Wanderers' Evening Song." After this will be the presentation of diplomas by Dr. Roberts, the benediction by Rabbi Reichert, and the Recessional.

Those students who expect to graduate are: Elizabeth Marie Andresen; Adele Bailey; Edna Howart Barwick, Ida Mary Batiloro; Esther N. Berkowitz; Charlotte Berman; Leah Marie Boehm; Bessie Maxwell Booth; Alicia Brimskill; Margaret H. Cooch; Richard Crane; Florentine Decker; Theresa Marie De Lu; Luella Anne Dilworth; Miriam Levy Feldheym; Margaret Foster; Janice Galbreath; Myrna Garibaldi; Irma M. Gerske; Gertrude L. Gibson; Georgia Gluesing; Ruth I. Goddard; Theresa Gould; Lucille A. Graham; Myra Green; Elizabeth Claire Grimes; Grace Ella Hackett; Grace Margaret Hauptli; Iris Howard; Anna Marie Johanson; Mae Ann Johnson; Ella Mary Kirkpatrick; Bertha Mahikoa; Rose F. Marraccini; Teru Moore; Mary Mortigia; Aileen D. Murphy; Mary McCarron; Essie McCaw; Hallie A. M. McCuen; Ann Georgia McHugh; Marjorie M. Nunemacher; Kathleen F. O'Farrell; Mary Julia O'Farrell; Helen Frances O'Connor; Mary Madeline O'Neill; Alice F. Gibson Parr; Alberta Rennie; Jessie Lee Ridley; Alice Genevieve Riemke; Madeleine J. Riffier; Ethel Maude Riley; Fannie Salomon; Gola Bernice Sanders; Lucile Savage; Flora Josephine Savio; Alice Elaine Sheridan; Marie Louise Skinner; Evelyn Alice Smith; Mildred Gowans Smith; Erma M. Stokoe; Mary Catherine Taheny; Marie C. Torpey; Grace Marie Twomey; Esther Wacholder; Vivian M. Walsh; Winifred Woods.

S. T. C. TO PARTICIPATE IN C. T. A. MEETINGS

With San Francisco as the hostess city to the California Teachers' Association at its 1930 meeting, during the week of December 15 to 20, S. T. C. will take part in a number of the association's programs during that time.

Programs Planned

Mrs. Mary McCauley, music instructor of S. T. C., is chairman of the music section of this meeting. She has planned a number of interesting programs. One of these will be held in the Frederic Burk Auditorium, Wednesday, December 17. A novel program has been planned. It will include a "Musical Daily Dozen" given by members of the college orchestra under the direction of Mr. William Knuth.

There will also be a demonstration of sight-reading in music by a class of children from the Oakland Public Schools. They will sing under the direction of their own classroom teacher.

Another feature of the program which will be presented by S. T. C. students will be a puppet show, "The King's Breakfast." It will be staged under the direction of Miss Jessie Casebolt. The young women of the college participating in it will be Dorothy Asher and Ruth Overfield as the puppeteers, Jessica Wayland as the reader, Lorraine Walsh as the accompanist, and Muriel Scherruble as the vocalist.

A fourth number on this program will be a 'cello quartet by students of the Tamalpais High School. The speaker for this day will be Miss Lillian Mohr, music supervisor of the Pasadena Schools, who will discuss the subject of "Creative Music in the Public Schools."

Mrs. McCauley has planned another affair for this week. It will be a luncheon at the William Taylor Hotel, Tuesday, December 16. Two musical numbers will be included in the program for this event. A demonstration class in group voice work by twenty students from the Technical High School in Oakland and a boys' choir from the Grace Cathedral in San Francisco will be heard. The choir will sing Christmas carols.

Drama Group Meets

S. T. C. students and faculty will also participate in the Drama Section meeting of the C. T. A. On Tuesday, December 16, at one-thirty, members of Kappa Delta Tau will present a pantomime. This feature will be given under the direction of Mrs. Sarah Scott. It is an oriental story relating the tale of a princess who falls in love with a shepherd. There will be no musical accompaniment, but the action will be characterized by sounds from cymbals, wood blocks, and tambourines.

Those students cast in the pantomime are Evelyn Richards, the Princess; Genevieve Woods, the Attendant; Evelyn Rafter, the Shepherd; Leora Tambling, the Wazer; Peggy Carroll, the Vizier; Claire Grimes, Gurli Wurli; Rachel Smith, the Goat; Del Mylius and Irma Gerske, Slaves of the Princess; Florence Alexander, Maker of Sounds; and Marjorie Thomson, the Nubian.

Hold Demonstration

Another section of the C. T. A. meetings in which the college will join is the Arithmetic Section to be held Wednesday, December 17, at one-thirty in the Frederic Burk School. This demonstration will be one of class room procedure in arithmetic, and will be given by student teachers in their class rooms under the direction of Miss Grace Carter, vice-principal of the training school.

HARD CONTEST PLAYED BY STATERS; SCORE IS 30-25

30's Victorious Over Bulldogs In Last Of Games

The "Fighting Statesmen" under Coach Cox, put at a disadvantage of 13 points in the first few minutes of play by a fast passing Bulldog attack which found the State defense off guard, immediately pulled themselves together for a sterling uphill battle,—a fight which brought the cheering fans to their feet time after time, and one that carried them within six points of victory.

The final score—Commerce 30; S. T. C. 25, indicates that the Purple and Gold was superior to their opponents except in the opening period of play.

Ed Henry stood out in the varsity game, being high point man for State, and turning in a great all-around game. Hal Garden can always be counted on for a hard fight right up to the final whistle and his work last Friday was up to standard. McGrew's experience stood him in good stead, and he played a fine defensive game. Crowley got away several times on fast dribbles down the court, showing plenty of speed. Horner sunk two field goals and one foul shot to account for five points.

'30's Win Game

The '30's, taking the floor after the varsity had gone down to defeat, came right back with plenty of fight to pull their game out of the fire by a score of 16-15. They had to put up a great game to beat the Bulldogs, last year's champions, and that's just what they did.

Gemagnini starred for the '30s by registering 8 points, half of his team's total score, all by himself. Tranberg turned in a good performance at center, with Cioffi playing a hard game at forward.

The midgets' outstanding guards proved to be Jess Fisher and Syd Traeger. Fisher tallied two field goals on long shots from the center court, while Trager crashed in and broke up the Bulldog offense time after time.

DINNER TO BE GRAND FINALE OF ALL SOCIAL EVENTS OF SEMESTER

The entire social program for the fall semester will come to a grand close with the annual Candle Light Dinner, Wednesday, December 17, from five-thirty to eight o'clock.

Many Skits Planned

A program is being arranged under the able direction of Edna Denhard, chairman of the affair. The entertainment will be given by members of several clubs of the college. The customary Candle-light Service will take place at the first part of the evening. This will be followed by numbers given by members of different clubs. Delta Phi Upsilon will present "Darby and Joan." The Scribes Club and the International Club have both prepared comical skits. The Glee Club will be represented by eight couples who will sing a novel review in costume. The Dance Club will be represented by Mrs. Helen Starks, radio artist, who will give a solo. Mrs. Starks will also play the piano accompaniment for the other groups. The Dance Club will give a Czechoslovakian folk dance, and several sport stunts will be given by members of the W. A. A. The men's quartette has prepared several selections, and following their presentation carols will be sung by all. The program will be concluded by the installation of class officers for the spring semester.

Candles Used as Motif

In the gymnasium the decorations will as much as possible carry out the Christmas Spirit. There will be one thousand candles, one at each place on the tables, which will make the scene beautiful and impressive.

The entire student body, members of the faculty, and alumni of the college will participate in this gala event. Plans are being made to seat the alumni according to the classes with which they graduated.

Edna Denhard, chairman, with the heads of the various committees; Alice Zander, candle light service; Maurice Boyd, collecting tickets; Alice Rich, decorations; Ruth Brazel, hostesses; Frances Kunz, invitations; Thelma Silvia, speakers table; Audrey Moore and Rose Marachino, senior tables, and Lillian Tyrrell, publicity, in conjunction with their committees are diligently working to assure the success of this affair.

Hostesses Chosen

Ruth Brazel, chairman of the hostesses has as her assistants in receiving the guests, Helen Coleman, Dorothy Dalton, Marion Levy, Sadie Lapesco, Anne Sanbrailo, Muriel Scherruble, Helen Starks, Meredith Rowell, Frances Miser, Constance Waters, Elizabeth Fiske, Mrs. Linn, Helen Vida, Margaret Horn, Frances Youell, Mary Chaquette, Rose Marachino, Jaqueline Beedle, Muriel Jacobs, Dorothy Asher, Frances Burge, Mary Kennet, Ruth Lescinski, Irma Gerske, Claire Grimes, Mrs. Parr, Flora Savio, Anne McHugh, Minnie Kern, Alice Grimwood, Ellen Alexander, Helen Jorgensen, Amy Taubman, Rose Hague, Margaret Lemon, Vivian Brewer, Meda Fugett, Audrey Moore, Elizabeth MacKenzie, Sally Wild, and Edith Shultze.

The Frederic Burk School has a new potential pupil. This future scholar's name is Master Johan Lund, Jr. He was born Tuesday, November 25, in Berkeley. His mother is Mrs. Agnes Moe Lund, a supervisor in the training school.

Ex. Schedule Change

A change in the final ex program is is follows: Tuesday-Thursday eleven o'clock classes will be held FRIDAY, DECEMBER 19 from 11 to 1, rather than on Tuesday, December 16, 11-1.

Rural Schools Filled

The fact that San Francisco State Teachers' College trains teachers for rural schools is shown in a recent survey made by Miss Cecilia Anderson, supervisor in the training school.

It was found by Miss Anderson in checking over the placement of graduates of May and Summer Session, 1930, that one-half of those placed by this college for the fall semester have found positions in schools of five rooms or less. It was also found that forty-one and one-half per cent of the recent graduates were placed in rural schools of three rooms or less.

Have We?

As the close of the semester approaches can each one of us as an individual look back and declare that during this fall semester of 1930 we have done as much for S. T. C. as we possibly could?

Have we supported the college in its athletics, inter-collegiate debates, social events, and scholastic record?

Have we wasted free hours, or have we used them to good advantage? Have we knocked and grumbled about S. T. C. not being collegiate, or have we placed our shoulders against the wheel and given our college a helpful push in the growth which it has attained this semester?

Have we been among those who never had time to attend a college function, or have we been numbered with those persons who have stepped right up and worked with vim to put over every kind of an event?

Some of us have been one type and many of us the other. It is easily seen where the majority of S. T. C. students have stood this semester by the stride forward that our college has taken in the last six months. With more such co-operative spirit we can finish this term with a bang, and begin next semester right.

Educating a Big Fish

A naturalist divided an aquarium with a clear glass partition. He put a lusty bass in one section and minnows in the other. The bass would strike every time a minnow approached the glass partition. After three days of fruitless lunging, which netted him only bruises, he ceased his efforts and subsisted on the food dropped in.

Then the naturalist removed the glass partition. The minnows swam all around the bass, but he did not strike at a single one. HE WAS THOROUGHLY SOLD ON THE IDEA THAT BUSINESS WAS BAD.

MORAL: Take another shot at the glass partition. MAYBE IT ISN'T THERE ANY MORE.—From Journal of Business Education.

T. N. T.

Editor's note:

Since this SMOKING QUESTION seems to be of such great importance to a large number of S. T. C. students, the editor has decided to slide out of the limelight and allow those so distressingly concerned to answer these T. N. T.s. This same policy will be followed in all other T. N. T. questions in "The Bay Leaf" the rest of this semester.

Dear T. N. T.:

We would like an answer to "A Would Be Smoker." We can't understand why an issue like this should be ignored. If it is true that it is against the state law for one to smoke on public property, and if this is state property, then why are boys allowed to smoke? We would like to behave like adults rather than sneaking high school girls trying to get a puff between classes in stuffy little roadsters, besides there aren't enough roadsters to go around. CURIOUS.

Dear T. N. T.:

There's no pleasing these women. If "A Would Be Smoker" wants to, there's plenty of benches along the "old straight and narrow path," where she can sit and smoke to her heart's content. And if she hates for the rest of us to see her, she can go park on the hill behind the gym while she smokes.

Some of these fair sex remind me of old maids—always harping 'cause they're afraid the newly-acquired men of the school will have just one more privilege than the women.

YOURS FOR CUSHIONED SEATS FOR SMOKERS.

Mrs. Sibley, graduate of December, '28, announced the birth of a daughter, Evelyn Marlowe, on November 6.

Texts to Be Bought

The Student Body Book Store will buy text-books from students for the use of other students next semester. A list of those books desired by the Co-op will be posted on the bulletin board and those persons wishing to sell their books are requested to watch for announcements.

With the prospective enrollment of two hundred new students next semester, it is assured that all books will be sold. It has been found less difficult and less troublesome for new students and old, when Mr. and Mrs. Marples have the text-books in their hands.

Volunteers Praised

Members of the Registrar's office have voiced their praise for the workmanlike and effective piece of work done by the volunteer students in filing pre-registration programs.

Miss Margaret Petray has had charge of the work. The volunteer students, under Miss Petray's direction, have been checking and filing programs as students presented them at the Registrar's office for the past two weeks.

Miss Holmes, even as the rest of us, is inclined to be reminiscent. In such a moment she told her class about a man she knew in college, who, in speaking used "er" consistently. He used it to such an extent that a regular joke was made of his speech. When someone criticized the young man in front of Miss Holmes, the worthy instructor's ready wit came to his rescue, and she said, "To 'err' is human."

Don Pryor was "stuck" in class the other day when called upon. Don stammered around a bit and then said, "I know the answer, but I can't express it."

A voice that we suspect belongs to Red Connelly was heard to say, "Send it by freight."

EDUCATOR ADVOCATES A PRACTICAL TRAINING

Old-timers who advocate a return to the three R's in our educational system are all wrong, and the modern educators who devise the present systems also are wrong in the main, believes Professor Ernest A. Rogers, educator, who arrived in San Francisco several days ago. He not only believes it, but he has been demonstrating the idea in his Montezuma Mountain School in Los Gatos for twenty years.

Rogers has just returned from Washington where he was a delegate to President Hoover's conference on child welfare.

Favors Practical Courses

"Education," he believes, "should aim to develop all the native powers of the child; to enable him to function at his highest level always and equip him to face the practical problems of life. Not every child is the same. More attention should be paid to individual development."

"Our educational system does not meet these requirements. In the first place too much mathematics is taught. Too much stress is put on competitive games. They give a false view of life and develop undue conceit. Games should be co-operative," quotes the professor.

Teacher Should Guide

He also states that the teacher does not always follow the best procedure. He should be a sort of chairman and not a taskmaster. The student should be made the center of things. He should be allowed to work out the problems under the guidance of the teacher. In the class room he should discuss rather than recite, and above all, the school system should constantly change.

"I was impressed by the great sincerity of President Hoover in dealing with child education and welfare. He instructed the educators who participated to broadcast the findings and try to bring about new and better practices. This we are doing," said Mr. Rogers.

FRANCISCAN FRIERS

Is it possible that Miss Pickard teaches students how to prevent disease, and then asks them not to at the same time?

In one of her B. S. 21 sections last week, the "health" instructor gave out the assignment for the next meeting of her class in such a way that her students were astonished.

"We shall study 'disease,'" she announced. "I shall post on the bulletin board those diseases that I want you to have."

They tell us:

All the ivory isn't in the jungles.

The person that says, "We won the Championship," quite probably never played in a game.

That if you do not succeed at first, try another recipe.

And "thems" that laugh last, laugh loudest.

After deep concentration we have decided our school is:

Quick to purchase typewriters for its school reporters.

Slow in giving "cinches."

Apt to forget "cuts."

Developing an All-American football team.

Installing comfortable seats for its students.

Offering free taxi service to and from school.

Contemplating one day a week school for "D" students.

And I dare you to believe us.

Betty—No. What happened?

Lillian—Pepsodent removed the film.

Mr. Morse—If this chemical explodes, we'll all be blown through the roof. Now, come closer so you can follow me.

Today is an opportune time for Tertium to make a plea on behalf of the whole student body. This request has been delayed far too long. It has to do with an urgent need of the college—an immediate need which we hope will be satisfied within the next seven days.

Will this plea be answered? Maybe. But on the night of December 17, at another of our famous Candle Light Dinners, we might get our answer in quite a materialistic form. So, let us see whether or not S. T. C. can follow the lead given to us by the Freshies—the first this term who got together to furnish at least one of those things listed among the missing.

Now to get down to terra firma.

You must admit that during the last year our college has been working under terrific handicaps. There is no one more anxious than Tertium to say that our old alma mater made a darn good job of what it had to do under the circumstances it struggled.

And those circumstances were trying in view of the hard knocks that our up-and-coming spirit had to take—a spirit that is just dying to show itself in more ways than one, ways that are hard to find.

Why? Because we have little means of getting together to give vent to our natural pride for S. T. C.

But, here comes our big chance:

Next week, our Candle Light Dinner affords us the one big chance of getting together. Next week, we can cheer and yell and perform all we want for S. T. C. Next week, we can make the old gym vibrate with stimulating exhibitions of a great spirit which is invading the campus. Everybody's catching it—and everybody wants to prove he's got it that night by outdoing the other fellow.

But here's the rub:

We can be reconciled to the absence of a much-needed assembly hall. We can even overlook the lack of proper outdoor amplification facilities — facilities which would mean open-air rallies, "pep affairs," and forty-eleven outdoor celebrations that could be enjoyed by all through a system of loud-speakers. Yes, we can be content to sit back and wait for these conveniences.

But . . .

It is hard for us, fired as we are with "zip" and "pep" on the eve of our dinner, to let something curb that enthusiasm. It is hard for us to do nothing when we see that our new-born spirit is about to be checked up again because of the lack of something.

Yes, it is very hard when we see that that which is missing can be very easily furnished—and very neatly offered as a means of pacification for all the major things we miss, and miss in silence.

So, being of the same mind in this matter, we keenly feel the lack of a standard-sized platform for the purpose of actually seeing and hearing, in comparative ease, performances listed on our favorite Candle Light Dinner program. Furthermore, we feel that such a platform could be reasonably acquired by some of our own student body funds. The classes themselves could stick in and purchase that stage. Freshies showed us how to act in a case of this kind. So why can't the other classes, or the student body itself, show some spirit by providing at least one need—that platform?

Now, we're all asking for it. Let's see if we get it!!!

P. S.: Let's make this Candle Light Dinner a regular get-together. No misgivings, no flaws, no disappointments And above all, a brand new platform!

Final Social Events Featured by Group

The first of these was the inauguration dinner held Friday evening, December 5, in the banquet room of the Bellevue Hotel. It was attended by approximately thirty-five people. The Christmas theme was carried out in

December 13 is the date that has been set aside for the last dance of the semester. All pledges and alumni have been invited and a most cordial invitation is being extended to the entire senior class. Bids to the affair will sell for one dollar. Bernard Noodleman and his orchestra will furnish the music for the event.

Peace School Opens

New in the realm of education appears the "School of Peace" opened recently in Paris by M. Painleve for the permanent study of problems connected with peace. The school was founded under the patronage of M. Briand and organized by the dictorate of l'Europe Nouvelle. The first year of the two-year course will comprise a series of lectures on the general international questions of the day. The second year will be devoted to special aspects of the peace problem.

COLLEGE SUPERVISORS SURVEY ROSS SCHOOL

Many methods and ideas originating in this college are being carried out in the Ross School in Marin County, where Miss Cecelia Anderson, Mrs. Evangeline Spozio, and Miss Alice Allcutt visited recently.

Two former students, Miss Martinelli, and Mrs. Clarke, are teaching there. They were found to be using the work in Industrial Arts, and the third grades were having Miss Anderson's language material in the classroom.

Following the reviewing of the classroom, the visitors dined in the school cafeteria, and were served the regular fifteen-cent lunch, which includes soup, a hot dish, vegetables, roll, butter, apple sauce, and coffee, by the upper grade girls, who help in the lunch room.

Bay Leaf Troubles

Being a contributor to The Bay Leaf is by no means a snap.

If we bring jokes, folks think we are silly.

If we don't, they say we are too serious.

If we publish original matter, we lack variety.

If we copy things from other sources, we are too lazy to write.

If we stay on the job, we ought to be hustling for news.

If we are hustling for news, we are not attending to business.

What is a fellow to do, anyway?

Like as not someone will say this was swiped from another paper. And so it was.

Although they are the only men in the December '30 class, and should have an inexhaustible source of knowledge on the subject, because of their association with the women seniors, Allan Wyatt and James Beckwith have declined to express their views on the subject, Women, the Intelligent Factor of Today.

PARENT-FACULTY FORM ASSOCIATION AT FIRST MEETING DECEMBER 9

The San Francisco State Teachers' Parent-Faculty Association held its first regular session Tuesday, December 9, at the Frederic Burk Auditorium. Mrs. Florence Barbieri, president, called the meeting to order at 2 p. m.

Group Is Greeted

Dr. Alexander C. Roberts greeted the new group. Dean Du Four asked for the co-operation of the parents with the faculty and students in making the Commencement Exercises of the December graduating class a success. The Commencement will be held Friday evening, December 19, at 8 p. m., in the Everett Junior High School Auditorium. Because of the small graduating class, the public is invited, but, as pointed out by Dr. Roberts, it will be necessary to limit invitations to all future commencements. Mrs. Barbieri, assisted by the executive board, will co-operate with Dean Du Four in making the Commencement a notable one.

Mrs. Monroe Speaks

Mrs. Bertha H. Monroe of the Department of Sociology was the speaker of the day. Her subject was, "Introduction of Teacher Training in Methods of Securing and Utilization of Peace in Human Relationship." Dean Mary A. Ward and Miss Katherine O'Sullivan were on the program. Also participating were Miss Amelia Marbo in a group of Italian songs, and Mr. Dan Baker in a solo, followed by a rendition from the Men's Quartette.

The next meeting of the parent-faculty group will be held the second Tuesday in January, providing that date does not conflict with the opening of the college for the spring semester.

The Parent-Faculty Association has been formed to bring a closer understanding between parents, faculty and students.

WISE QUACKS

As the unknown soldier is worshipped by many, the heroism of the unknown secretary for Dr. S. I. Rypins is worshipped by all the students of the Social Science 1 class. A test was recently scheduled by Dr. Rypins, and as the test progressed, it was found that two pages of the test were similar—therefore the class had only one page of the test.

Siena Entertains at Informal Program

The house girls of the Siena Club entertained twenty-five house girls of the Emanu-El Sisterhood, Thursday, November 20, at the Siena Club House on Buchanan street.

Entertainment consisted of solos sung by Lena Pacini, and Miss Sullivan, club sponsor. Catherine O'Sullivan played the piano, and Amy Taubman and Sadie Matilla gave selections on the violin.

Refreshments and dancing concluded the affair. Eleanor Madigan was in charge of the plans for the evening.

DINNER IS HELD FOR GLEE CLUB MEMBERS

Gaiety prevailed at an informal supper held at Miss Eva Levy's home for members of the Glee Club, Thursday, December 4. Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Roberts, several faculty members, and approximately sixty members of the Glee Club attended the affair.

An appetizing supper was served. Sandwiches, frankfurters, and potato salad were served first. Then exclamations of delight were heard when the guests began to eat the delicious home-made cake that was served with hot chocolate.

After the supper was served, games were played. Ralph Cioffi, Mabel Roberts, Mrs. Alexander Roberts, and Geraldine Cleek were the winners of the prizes that were given for the games.

A novel feature of the evening was the original Charleston step displayed by the club's president, Lillian Tyrrell. In one of the games, Miss Tyrrell had to dance balancing a cardboard box on her head.

One of the most exciting events of the evening occurred when Mr. Frank Ray, unknown to many of the guests, took a picture of a group of faculty members. The unexpected loud explosion caused several suppressed screams. Several guests were prevented from fainting by being assured by Don Baker that all was well. Mr. Ray took several other pictures of the guests.

The delightful evening was concluded by dancing. Alice Carr played several popular songs for dance music.

The botany and zoology classes were the audience for a three-reel motion picture shown Wednesday and Thursday, November 19 and 20.

The film was made in England by Dr Strangeways and Dr. Canti. The pictures showed living tissues growing in cultures isolated from the animal from which they were taken, and photographed by means of a camera placed over a microscope.

The photographs were taken in different experiments at intervals of three, ten, thirty, or sixty seconds, and when reproduced on the screen were speeded up to fifty, 120, 480, and 960 per second.

Living, growing cells from the periosteum and an embryo of a chicken egg incubated for six days was the subject matter of the first reel.

In the second reel the effect of radium on cancer tissue from a rat was shown. It was evident that motion ceased, and that the cells died after radium emanation was applied.

The third reel showed cells by dark ground illumination, which disclosed fat bodies, Golgi bodies, and mitochondria. These do not become visible in ordinary light illumination under the microscope.

The entire film was of especial interest to the botany and zoology classes, because they have been studying cells and mitosis in plants and animal life.

PLEDGES INITIATED AT NOVEL DINNER PARTY

Wilma Orton and Ruth Passow were pledged to the National Kindergarten-Primary Honorary Society, Delta Phi Upsilon, last week.

Several alumni members were present at the ceremonies, and afterwards the society met for dinner at the home of Miss Marion Barbour, sponsor of the club in S. T. C. Each person attending brought part of the dinner. Miss Barbour contributed the hot dish. Later in the evening the society attended a performance of "Ghosts" at the Columbia Theatre.

Friday, December 5, initiation ceremonies were held for the two new members at a dinner in the Studio Tea Room on Sutter street. About twenty were present, including active, alumni, and faculty members.

TRAINING SCHOOL HAS SCENES FROM BOOKS

Characters from eight well-known stories were enacted by children of the high second, high and low third, and the low fourth grades in the Frederic Burk auditorium, under te direction of Miss Cecilia Anderson, as a part of the Book Week activities.

The dream of a little girl was enacted with scenes from The Pied Piper; Brownie and the Cherry Tree; Peter Pan; Alladin; Turkey Girl; Jan and Katrinka; and Gudbrand.

Miss Carter Receives Unanticipated Ducking

Faculty Member Has Surprise Ocean Ducking

Miss Grace Carter claims that she doesn't mind a "ducking" while in a bathing suit, but when it comes to her clothes being ruined, to say nothing of being soaked to the skin by an over-energetic wave, well—too-much is too-much.

Last Armistice Day, Miss Carter and a group of friends journeyed down the coast for a picnic. No swimming was planned. They found an ideal cove facing the blue Pacific, and so stopped for their feast. For a few moments Miss Carter was alone and to make use of valuable time, she proceeded to spread out the lunch. Kneeling, with her back to the roaring ocean, she carefully laid a blanket over the sand, then spread the lunch on it. Suddenly a huge wave came in and over Miss Carter, to her great alarm and terror, leaving her weak and soaked. It did not leave the lunch and blanket, however, as both of these were carried out to sea, and as yet, they have not been sighted.

STUDENT TRAVELS FAR TO STUDY AT COLLEGE

From far-off Korea and China to San Francisco State Teachers' College seems a long way to travel; yet Miss O Kyun Kim, a student here, has done that very thing. Miss Kim had her grammar and high school training in Korea and Soo Chow, China, and then she traveled here to get her degree.

Miss Kim said, "In Korea and China we learn the theory of the subjects taught here, but we lack the practical application given by American schools. What I admire most in America is the activity of the women in society, politics, athletics, and education. Woman's status is so much above that of Oriental women, and their lives so full of interests, that they interest me greatly."

While in a private school in China, Miss Kim was badly frightened by Chinese revolutionists who invaded the town. She, with several others, was compelled to flee by night on a Chinese junk to Shanghai for safety.

Miss Kim plans to return as a teacher to Korea, where she hopes to help preserve the ancient Korean Culture.

DRAMATIC INSTRUCTOR MADE VICE-PRESIDENT

At the second annual convention of the Western Association of Teachers of Speech, held November 27-29 at the William Taylor Hotel in San Francisco, a faculty member of S. T. C. was elected to a position of high rank.

Miss Jessie D. Casebolt, teacher of dramatics here, was elected vice-president of the organization. Other officers elected were: president, Dr. Emerson Bassett, Stanford; and secretary-treasurer, Mr. Joseph Smith, University of Utah.

Teachers of dramatics and speech from all high schools, colleges, and universities west of the Mississippi River attended the convention.

Miss Casebolt stated that the main trend of the meeting this year was toward improvement of the speaking voice, correct speech, and dramatization for auditorium purposes.

Friday evening, November 28, the session was held in the Frederic Burk Auditorium. The program was prepared by Miss Casebolt of S. T. C., and William Hinsdale of the College of the Pacific.

Club To Give Play

The Parent-Teachers' Association of the Frederic Burk School will give a play the afternoon and evening of December 12 in the Frederic Burk Auditorium. According to Miss Casebolt, who is directing the production, dolls are to be the motif of the play. The children of the training school are selling the tickets to the performance.

FAMOUS INSTRUCTOR HAS BEEN JAILBIRD AND IS PROUD OF IT

Believe it or not. Dr. Stanley I. Rypins has been in jail.

On being questioned about the cause of his arrest, Dr. Rypins laconically answered, "Murder," and explained himself. In 1916 Dr. Rypins was arrested at Como, one of the most beautiful places in Italy, and spent nine days in jail. Declaring that he didn't want Mussolini informed of this statement, Dr. Rypins said he didn't know that such "rotten, medieval jails" still existed in these modern times. Inasmuch as he was a foreigner in Como, he was given the best cell in the jail, a corner cell which boasted of two windows. However, with every advantage there seems to be a disadvantage, for Dr. Rypins had to share his cell with four other men, some of whom, for all he knows, are still there. He obtained his release by bluffing and by forfeiting all the money he had, which was the equivalent of $120 in English sovereigns.

Hard Prison Life

While he was in jail, he and his co-prisoners were given but two meals a day. The first consisted of a chunk of bread, and the second consisted mainly of cold boiled potatoes. If so desired, milk could be purchased, but the sanitary conditions were such as to render it unpalatable. During the nine days, Dr. Rypins neither bathed nor shaved. Razors, like knives, forks, and dishes, were denied him and after one look at the prison barber, he decided to grow a beard.

The prisoners were allowed nothing to read, nor pencils and paper with which to write. Despite all this, Dr. Rypins had smuggled to him a novel and fifteen or twenty old Saturday Evening Posts.

Dr. Rypins' best friend among his fellow prisoners was the notorious American murderer, Porter Charlton. Curiously enough, this acquaintance resulted later in Dr. Rypins meeting two famous people, George Bernard Shaw and Mary Boyle O'Reilly.

Claims Distinction

As far as Dr. Rypins knows, he is the only member of this faculty to have been in jail, and, therefore, the only member to have the fullest claim to respectability. Dr. Rypins seems to approve of jailbirds, as the lady he married has been twice in jail. Jails do not admit children under six years old, but he still has hopes for his daughter.

"Every judge that sits on the bench," says Dr. Rypins, "should first serve an involuntary sentence in jail to know what it's like."

Dorothy Doelker confesses that she has never heard of a Spanish shark. Well, Dorothy, we'll give you a hint. Have you ever heard of a Latin pony?

Siena Club to Give Annual Xmas Party

The Siena Club will give its annual Christmas party for the little girls of the Mount St. Joseph's Catholic Orphanage today.

Archbishop Hanna, who is chaplain and sponsor of the club, will be present at the party to welcome the children to the evening of entertainment and fun.

The club house, where the party is to be held, will be decorated with holly berries and wreaths. In the corner of the big bay windows will stand the Christmas tree laden with glittering ornaments.

Santa to Be There

Santa Claus, personified by Marie Moore, will present each of the sixty little girls with a long stocking containing a doll, material for its dresses, small toys, fruit, and nuts. The stockings have been filled by the members and alumnae of the club.

Each little guest will have a "big sister" for the evening to make her feel at home and have a good time. "Big sister" roles will be taken by the members and alumnae of the Siena Club.

Entertainment will be furnished by the orphans themselves and will consist of games and recitations. Following these, ice cream, cake, and chocolate will be served.

Committee Working

The committee that is working to assure the success of the affair is headed by Marie Spezia. Her sub-committees are in charge of Eva Starcevich, entertainment; Teresa Denser, refreshments; and Marie Regli, Christmas stockings.

Since this is the first event of the holiday season and is an annual affair, the little girls, whose ages range from five to twelve years, are eagerly anticipating this evening.

Members of the club who have automobiles will bring the children to the club house and take them home again at the conclusion of the evening's festivities.

Our Error

An erroneus statement relative to an article read by Dr. Arneson to his one o'clock English 1B class was made in the December 3 BAY LEAF. The class, realizing the value of the article and feeling that the news was misinterpreted, wishes to nullify the statement.

PROHIBITION OF JEWS IN PALESTINE CAUSE OF SEVERE CRITICISM

During the World War, in the Declaration made by Lord Balfour, Palestine was told that the British Government would look with favor upon the establishment of a Jewish National Home, a center in which the Jews could build their own culture. As a result of the Balfour Declaration, many thousand Jews and millions of dollars have poured into Palestine with notable economic, industrial, and agricultural benefits to the country.

The Arab population of Palestine, being greatly in the majority, have proved hostile to this influx of Jews with the result that there have been riots.

At the present time, there is being held in London a conference between the English and Indian statesmen concerning the political status of India within the British Empire. Many thousands of Indians are, like the Arabs of Palestine, Mohammedans, and England is therefore interested in pacifying the Mohammedans of Palestine as much as possible.

The most recent step taken in this development has been the declaration by Sidney Webb, Lord Passfield, that further immigration of Jews into Palestine is to be prohibited. This declaration has brought a storm of criticism from the Jews the world over. Dr. Rypins, who knows Lord Passfield well, who has been entertained by him, and has, in turn, entertained Lord Passfield, greatly admires him and believes that if it had not been for the trouble with India, Lord Passfield would not have made that declaration. However, under pressure of the present political situation, Lord Passfield has been compelled to act this way, though not in the least colored by religious beliefs.

Room Rated Highest

In a recent survey of the appearance of the class-rooms in the Frederic Burk School, Miss Grace Carter, vice-principal, awarded first place to the group of high primary rooms under the supervision of Miss Cecilia Anderson.

Room 105, a high second grade classroom, was declared the most interesting in appearance. The teachers in charge of this room are Dorothy Asher, Marian Phillips, Margaret Hazelwood, and Elma Richards.

Gentlemen Prefer—

No gentlemen around, and yet there are blondes galore to be preferred in the eleven o'clock section of the P. E. 50 class. There are forty members in the class and thirty-three and one-third per cent of them are blondes, the strawberry and sarsaparilla types being barred.

A research carried on by Miss Holtz and Mrs. Scott in the vicinity of the lockers and dressing rooms has thus far revealed no peroxide.

Art Classes Design Hanging for Room

At the present time the art classes, under the direction of Miss Evelyn Mayer, are working in groups finishing the dadoe and wall hanging chosen by them to be used in decorating Room 210.

The dadoe which was chosen by the Art 10 and the Art 110 classes was selected because of its color harmony and appropriateness of the design for the room. It was done by Mary Kennet of the Art 10 group. The class is now stenciling this design on the walls of the room.

The hanging, which is being painted on burlap at the present time, was chosen because it fit in so well with the dadoe design that was chosen. The hanging was designed by May Conway, who is a member of the Art 110 class.

According to reports from these workers, it is hoped that before finals begin the work will be completed and the art room will be truly representative of its purpose.

DELTA SIGMA NU TO HAVE HOLIDAY PARTY

Definite plans for the Christmas party of Delta Sigma Nu to be held tomorrow, December 11, were made at the club's regular meeting Thursday, November 27.

The holiday affair will be in the form of a dinner party. Many plans have been made for the party. Gifts will be distributed among the guests after the dinner has been served. For the giving of these presents, the members of the club have drawn names of other members and are to buy or make a gift for the person whose name was selected. The gifts will be novel as they must not cost over fifteen cents.

Buffet Supper Held

At a buffet supper held last evening in her home on Larkin street, Miss Alice Allcutt, primary supervisor, entertained the student teachers of her department.

All the young women who attended the affair are teachers in the low first grade in the Frederic Burk School. Among those present were Elizabeth Moller, Roselyn Wolfisberg, Emily Gillis, Gladys Carey, Alice Lindberg, Helen Jorgenson, Margaret Hodge, and Grace Hauptli.

STC TO MEET GALILEO TODAY IN GYM

AWARDS FOR W. A. A. MADE AT NIGHT RALLY

The W. A. A. Night Rally was held Friday, December 5, at seven o'clock in the gymnasium. The trophies earned this semester were awarded, and an athletic entertainment was given.

Two picked volley ball teams, the Purples and the Golds, played a hard fought game. The women playing on these teams were: Purple team—Marion Donaldson, Mary Mortigia, Lucille Savage, Margaret Graham, Winnifred St. John, Margaret Mareck, Marie Stanton, Barbara Mason, and Margaret Downing; Gold team—Leah Boehm, Mildred Smith, Helen Vida, Margaret Rice, Margaret James, Lillian DeHay, Ozelle Whitby, Lois Gillmore, and Helen Shea.

The numerals, block pins, and cups earned by W. A. A. members this semester were awarded to the winners by Dr. Sherman Brown, principal of the Frederic Burk Training School.

The following women received pins: Mary Mortigia, Kathleen O'Farrell, and Mildred Smith.

Tessie Vierra, Gladys Benerd, Lillian DeHay, and Helen Vida were awarded blocks.

The women from the class of '32 who won numerals were: Margaret Graham, Margaret Petray, Marjorie Rice, Winnifred St. John, and Dorothy Williamson.

Members of Advisory Council Hold Meeting

The purposes, aims, and duties of the Advisory Council were explained at a recent meeting in Room 208, where fifteen students were invited to attend and join the group with their future projects. Tea and cakes were served and the meeting lasted through an hour.

Planning alternate business and social affairs, the officers of the club are: Charlene Crawford, president; Grace Helen Smith, vice-president; Ruth Lescinski, secretary; Elena Foppiano, treasurer, and Dorothy Singer, historian. The honorary members include Dean D. Cox, Dean Mary Ward, Miss Clara Crumpton, and Miss Florence Vance.

CORRECTION IN S. S. TENTATIVE PROGRAM

There was a slight misunderstanding concerning the Social Science curriculum as it was given in The Bay Leaf two weeks ago. The article that was given at that time was only a general statement of the plans anticipated by the S. S. department, and not a permanent curriculum to be put in the catalogue.

It is to be understood that before the Social Science program becomes permanent it must be passed upon by the curriculum committee and the faculty for final action.

One course that has been definitely approved is the extension course, S. S. 32, "Current Economic Problems," to be given next semester on Tuesday evenings by Dr. Cave.

Then there is a student at the Normal and Training College in Honolulu who thinks an idiom is an expression of an idiot.

Tournament Closes

The W. A. A. handball tournament ended Wednesday, December 3, with the following women playing in the inter-team games:

First Singles

Team 1	Team 2
Marion Donaldson	Margaret Mareck

Second Singles

Pearl Garcia	Marie Regli

Doubles

Grace Ridgwell	Hazel Schrepfer
Lillian De Hay	Grace Perret

Since handball will probably be discontinued, at least for a time, no cup was awarded to the winning team. However, honorable mention was given to the winners.

Golf Finals Played

The final round in the golf tournament was held Saturday, December 6, at Lincoln Park Golf Links. The holder of low medal score will be announced, and a trophy awarded at a luncheon given by the club, at the Whitcomb Hotel, Thursday, December 11, at 12 o'clock.

The club held its semi-annual meeting Thursday, December 4, at 4 p. m., in room 119. Plans for next year were discussed and the following officers elected: Margaret Higginson, president; Ruth Sturgeon, vice-president; Sue Barnett, secretary-treasurer.

WEEKLY STORY-HOUR ENJOYED BY CHILDREN

Drakes Bell and His Friend was one of the interesting stories related by Miss Hermine Henze in her weekly story-hour this semester. This series of story-hours was started in the middle of October and will continue for the remainder of the term.

Having an average attendance of sixty chidren, including Miss Lilian Talbert's high first, and low and high second grades, the tales have been favorites of little children. Such stories as Cock, Mouse and the Little Red Hen, and other folk tales of many lands have been enjoyed.

With the increasing interest of the children, Miss Henze hopes to have two story-hours next term, with children of the low and high primaries in attendance Friday afternoons.

College Instructors Visit Rural School

Miss Cecelia Anderson and Miss Grace Carter visited the Townsend school, four miles out of Livermore, November 29. Mrs. Mae Harville, a graduate of this college several years ago, is the teacher of the school. There are only sixteen children in the school, and Mrs. Harville teaches all the grades.

A program was put on by the pupils. It consisted of three puppet shows, based on history. An Indian play, written and conducted by the children, was also a feature of the program. The pupils costumed and made the scenery for the entire production themselves. The teacher was not in evidence while the children conducted the program.

Including those who were present were Mr. Martin, Alameda County Superintendent; two supervisors, and several parents.

Team Will Meet Stiff Competitves In Lions

Today at 4:10 p. m., in the Women's Gym, the Purple and Gold hoop stars will meet the Lions of Galileo High. Both the 130-lb. and unlimited squads will perform in what are expected to be the most exciting games of the term. Both S. T. C. squads at present have a percentage of 500, having each lost one game and won one. The boys are out today to raise their percentage to 750, even if they have to tame a nice, wild, man-eating Lion in order to do it.

Today's games are the last of the term for S. T. C., and the first pre-season game for the Lions.

The Purple and Gold will have to fight hard to win this time, for Coach De Nike of the Lions always puts a strong squad in the field. His team will probably be one of the leading contenders for the high school championship in the coming season.

If Coach Cox's warriors are able to co-ordinate their team work on defense this afternoon they will probably close the term with a brilliant victory. In past games the defense has been somewhat slow in getting under way. As a result the opposing team has had the opportunity to run up a comfortable lead in the opening minutes of play, which it is necessary for the home boys to overcome in order to come out ahead.

Ed Henry, the stellar performer in the Commerce game; Hal Garden, hard-working guard; and Ken McGrew, experienced forward, will all be in the opening lineup, as will be Don Horner and Jack Crowley, two boys who are improving with each game.

The games played so far by S. T. C. have been so hard fought that Coach Cox has had little opportunity to give his substitute players actual game experience, but there is some fine material in the second string and it will come to light in future games.

Box of Candy to Be Awarded to Student

Rah! Rah! Rah for the varsity! Who likes candy? Mr. Marples has offered a one-pound box of Haas Half and Half candy to the student who suggests the most suitable name for the varsity team.

Entry blanks may be dropped in the Book Store until four o'clock Wednesday. Dean Cox will act as judge and the announcement of the winner will appear in the next edition of The Bay Leaf.

Instructor Shocked

Mr. S. Morse believes that with a little training in high jumping, he will be able to outshine many of the stars in that field. For the benefit of his Physical Science class, Mr. Morse gave a little demonstration of his jumping ability last Tuesday.

While trying to show the class what electricity was, he received quite a shock. Mr. Morse jumped so high it would have put a kangaroo to shame. When the laughter of the class had subsided, he asked, "Did my lips move?"

ENTER TEAM NAME CONTEST TODAY

W. A. A. Election Held

After a hotly contested election held throughout the day, Friday, December 5, Gladys Benerd was elected to the office of W. A. A. president, for the spring semester.

The other newly elected officers of the club are: vice-president, Winnifred St. John; treasurer, Helen Vida; and assistant secretary, Ida Roche. Margot Aase, this semester's assistant secretary, will automatically become W. A. A. secretary for the spring term.

The other women who were candidates for these offices were Margaret Petray, Lena Watt, Betty Stevenson, and Margaret Graham. The new officers will be installed at a meeting early next semester.

Brothers in Battle

Opponents—and how they fought each other in the "S. T. C. '30 - Poly '30 game," when "Jess" Fisher of this school played against his brother, "Nate," who was on the Poly team. If there was any brotherly love, it was left at home under the table that day.

When "Jess" was asked if he felt like choking his brother during the game, he said, "Yeah, so we took it out on each other after we went home."

JUNIOR-SENIORS WIN W. A. A. HOCKEY CUP

This year's hockey season closed with the combined Junior-Senior team as the college champions.

The scores of the games played showed the superiority of the championship team In the game played October 29, the Junior-Senior team defeated the Sophomores by a score of one to nothing. The game played November 3 gave the Senior-Juniors a score of four against that of three for the Freshmen.

According to the hockey manager, Elsie Schulte, fifty points were given to each member of the winning team provided she had sufficient practices and had participated in the inter-class games.

The winning team also received the newly-purchased W. A. A. Hockey Cup.

The Bulldogs from San Mateo defeated the University of San Francisco in a soccer game with a score of 2-1 on Friday, the 28th, at the San Mateo High School field.

The San Mateo Racqueteers clashed with the Sacramento Jaycee Netmen in their last game on Thanksgiving day. Six singles and three doubles matches were played.

Strong Co-ed Here

Samson! He was noted for his strength. No one knows it, but we have one right in our own midst. Not so long ago the windows in the cafeteria were being put down by a young lady. Her strength was so great that she brought down the window, and crash! Someone swept up the pieces.

EARLY SCHEDULE FOR TRACK, FIELD EVENTS

Track and field events will vie with swimming to occupy the attention of S. T. C. athletes and sport followers at the start of the spring term.

Four track and field meets have already been scheduled, and S. T. C.'s opponents in each meet will offer stellar competition. For example, the first meet, scheduled for March 14, will bring together S. T. C. and the California Frosh. The events, which are to be held at the California Oval, will start at ten o'clock in the morning. Some of the foremost ex-high school stars will be seen in action, and track enthusiasts will have the opportunity of forming first-hand opinions of S. T. C. athletic material.

The remainder of the schedule is listed below. Coach Cox expects to arrange for several more meets before the season starts.

April 1—San Jose State at Kezar, 2:30 p. m.

April 4—Santa Rosa J. C., at Santa Rosa, 2:30 p. m.

April 18—Marin Junior College at Kezar, 2:30 p. m.

Track practice will be held at the Kezar Stadium, except for some of the field events. The field on the campus will be satisfactory for practice in such events as the shot put and discus throw.

Stunt Program Given

An exhibition of tumbling stunts was given by one of the Physical Education classes, yesterday in the Frederic Burk School Auditorium at twelve o'clock.

Special stunts, including pyramids, hand stands, and group and individual stunts, were included in the program. This exhibition was given under the direction of Mrs. Katherine Bridge, Physical Education instructor.

TOUCHDOWN!
IN the Big Game of Business only the trained man is called to carry the ball. He is the one who scores in salary and promotion while the untrained man either sits on the side-lines or "just shoves" to help the star player.
In Business, same as in the Stadium, the best coached team wins. Then choose your "coach" with care.
Since 1862 Heald College has been producing winning teams and business stars.
A talk with Mr. Lesseman or Mr. Phillips will show you the way to a "clear field" in business that will enable you to carry the ball over the goal line of success.
Telephone for an appointment . . . there is no obligation and you cannot help but profiit by it
